PROSPECTS OF A DARK HORSE.

If Neither Harrison or Blaine is Nominated on the First Ballot McKinley May Be the Man—Only a Short Session of the Convention Held—The Committee on Credentials Having an Interesting Time of It.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 9.—Cloudy skies and occasional sun bursts marked the opening of the second day of the national Republican convention. Temporary Chairman Fassett was late in putting in an appearance, and so, in fact, were a good many of the delegates who had been engaged in committee work a good part of the night. But the band kept things lively. Ex-Speaker Reed's familiar form was looked for and found in the same place as the previous day. Fred Douglass was invited to a seat on the platform.

It was 11:43 when Chairman Fassett rapped the convention to order. The Right Rev. H. B. Whipple, Episcopal bishop of Minnesota, who had been sitting to the left of the chair, with his head protected by a little purple cap, removed that covering and opened the proceedings with prayer as follows, the delegates and most of the audience standing the while:

Almighty God, who hath promised to give wisdom to all who reverently seek Thee, who alone pourest into the hearts of men that most excellent gift of charity, we ask Thy blessing upon this convention. Help them to realize that government is a sacred trust from God, who alone has the right to govern and that his love has given to every nation the right to say in what form that trust shall be clothed. Grant, Heavenly Father, that the one who we may choose shall be a man after Thine own heart, a lover of righteousness, the defender of the poor and the needy, and the guardian of the nation's honor. Give to this people the understanding heart to obey Thee, that truth and justice, religion, piety, peace and happiness may be established among us for all generations. Grant this for the sake of Thy son, Jesus Christ, in whose words we sum up our petitions. Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name, Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us, and deliver us from evil, for Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory forever and ever. Amen.

Mr. Webster, of Nebraska, asked permission that Mr. Walker, of Nebraska, be given the floor to present a gavel to the convention. The chair announced that Mr. Walker would have the floor for that purpose. "What purpose?" said some delegates in the front row.

Mr. Fassett explained. Mr. Walker then took the platform and made a little speech in so low a tone that there were cries of "Louder" from all parts of the hall.

The gavel was presented in the name of the young Republicans of Nebraska, in memory of the homestead act. Mr. Walker described the wood of which the gavel was made, and said that there were two silver coins in the end of it.

Mr. Fassett, as temporary chairman, returned the thanks of the convention to the state of Nevada. This slip of the tongue caused laughter, which Fassett adroitly turned to account, saying that there was so much silver about the gavel that the mistake was excusable.

The temporary chairman announced the order of business to be the presentation of the credentials committee report. Mr. Cogswell, chairman of that committee, took the floor and stated that the committee was not ready to report. He asked permission for the committee to sit continuously until it had completed its labors. Leave to sit continuously was granted.

Mr. Cogswell and Mr. Spooner having taken their seats the chairman announced that the report of the committee on permanent organization was next in order. D. C. Lockwood, of Idaho, chairman of the committee, was recognized and took the platform. He presented the name of Hon. William McKinley, of Ohio, for permanent chairman. It was received with tumultuous applause. Charles W. Johnson was named for secretary, and the assistant secretaries of the temporary organization were recommended continued.

The committee also recommended that each delegation appoint an honorary vice president and secretary. Mr. Lockwood moved the adoption of the report and it was adopted.

The chairman appointed Samuel Fessenden, of Connecticut; ex-Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin; and General Mahone, of Virginia, a committee to escort Major McKinley to the chair. They came up from the body of the hall and went up the narrow aisle beside the chairman's platform to the place where Governor McKinley was seated. Then Mr. Spooner preceded and General Mahone followed him down the aisle to the platform. He shook hands with Mr. Fassett, while the convention rose and cheered again and again. Mr. Fassett turning from him thanked the convention for its consideration and kindness to him. Then he introduced the permanent chairman. There was another tumult of applause, and an Ohio delegate sprang to his feet and proposed three cheers. They were given with a will.

Governor McKinley then said: GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION—I thank you for the honor of presiding over the ninth national convention of the Republican party. A Republican convention means something. They have always meant something. Republican conventions say what they mean and mean what they say. They declare principles and policies and purposes, and when entrusted with power they execute and enforce them. The first national convention of the Republican party thirty-six years ago met in the city of Philadelphia. The platform of that convention reads today more like an aspiration than an affirmation of a political party. Every provision of that great instrument made by the fathers of our party is on the statutes of our country today. Every one of them has been embodied into public law, and that can not be said of the platform of any political organization in this or any country in the world. Whenever there is anything to be done in this country and by this country and for this country, the Republican party is called upon to do it.

There is one thing that can be said of our organization which can not be said of any other. It can look backward without shame or humiliation, and it can look forward with cheer and exultation. That can not be said of any other political organization in the United States.

Gentlemen of the convention, we are here today to make a platform and a ticket that will commend themselves to the conscience and intelligence and the judgment of the convention people, and we will do it. Whatever is done by this convention will meet the approval of the American people in November of this year. We have already heard some of the notes of victory, for this is a Republican year. Rhode Island has spoken. Only yesterday Oregon spoke, electing three Republican representatives to the congress of the United States.

When we get through with this convention its conclusions will be the law of Republican action, as they will be the assurance of Republican victory. We are for a protective tariff and for reciprocity. We propose to take no backward step upon either one of these great Republican principles. We stand for a protective tariff, because it represents the American home, the American fireside, the American family, the American girl, the American boy, and the highest possibilities of American citizenship. We propose to raise our money to pay public expenses by taxing the products of other nations rather than by taxing the products of our own.

The Democratic party believes in direct taxation; that is, in taxing ourselves. We don't believe in that principle, so long as we can find anybody else to tax. The protective tariff not only does everything which a revenue tariff can do in raising all needed revenues, but a protective tariff does more than that. A protective tariff encourages American industries and gives the widest possibilities to American genius and American effort.

Does anybody know what tariff reform means? (Cries of "No, No.") And yet that is to be the platform of our political opponents this year. What does it mean? You can study President Cleveland's utterances, from the first one he made in New York, when he said he did not know anything about the tariff, until his last one in Rhode Island, and you go away ignorant and uninformed as to what tariff reform means. Since the war there have been three great tariff reform bills proposed by the Democratic leaders, and none of them alike—no two of them with the same free list, no two of them with the same tariff list, no two of them with the same rates of duty, but all made by the Democratic party upon the same principle, to symbolize and represent tariff reform.

You may go to Mr. Mills, you may go to Mr. Springer, and you will find they differ totally. But you may go to the house of representatives at Washington, which was elected distinctly upon what they call a tariff reform issue, with two-thirds majority in the house, and what do you find? That they have passed three bills. Let me name them:

1. Free tin and steel or iron plates on which tin is coated—taxed, the finished product free and the raw material bearing a duty.
2. Free wool to the manufacturer and tariff cloth to the consumer.
3. Free cotton ties to the cotton states and tariff hoop iron to all the rest of the states.

That is their symbol of tariff reform. Gentlemen of the convention, how do you like it?

This contest that you enter upon is for the maintenance of protection and reciprocity. But I want to say here, that there is not a line of the tariff bill that is not American; there is not a paragraph that is not patriotic. There is not a page that does not represent Americanism and the highest possibilities of American citizenship.

We are to declare ourselves upon other questions here today. We are to declare ourselves upon the question of a free ballot and a fair count. No platform should have been made by a Republican convention that did not reiterate that great constitutional guaranty. No Republican speech should ever have been made that did not insist—firmly and resolutely insist—that that great constitutional guaranty shall be a living birthright; not the cold formality of constitutional enactment, but a living thing, which the poorest and humblest may confidently enjoy, and which the richest and most powerful dare not deny.

We can well leave to the committee on resolutions the duty of making a platform that shall represent the best thoughts and the best ideas, and the best wisdom of the Republican party. When we go out of this convention upon a true Republican platform, we go out marching to victory, no matter what name we may carry on our banner.

The speech was greeted with prolonged cheers. At its close there were repeated cries of "Douglass," and the venerable ex-slave had to come forward and bow his thanks.

When order was restored the chairman announced that the next order of business was the report of the committee on resolutions. Chairman Forsaker took the floor to ask further time. He could not be heard by the convention for the applause. The chairman heard him, however, and said that if there was no objection further time would be granted.

The chairman then recognized Chairman Bingham, of the committee on rules and order of business, who took the platform and read the committee's report. The paragraph adopting "the rules of the Fifty-first congress" was emphasized by Mr. Bingham in reading, and the convention applauded. Mr. Bingham explained that, with two exceptions, these were the rules of the last national convention. One of these was the insertion of a rule providing that a motion to table an amendment shall not prejudice the pending question. This was a rule of the United States senate. The other was the recognition of the rules of the house of the Fifty-first congress, "instead of the rules of the present house, which permit indefinite filibustering and obstruction and non-action except when reported by the committee on rules."

Mr. Cullom, of Illinois, asked if the printed copy of the rules distributed through the hall was correct. He was assured that with one single error they were.

Mr. McComas, of Maryland, who rose to ask a question, was greeted with applause. The report was agreed to without division.

A Texas delegate asked that Texas be passed until the chairman of the delegation should arrive, thus repudiating the announcement of Wright Cuney's name.

Several women's suffrage memorials and a memorial from the Honest Money league were presented and referred.

The chairman then announced that the next business was the naming of candidates for the presidential nomination. There was an excited buzz, and Senator Cullom jumped to his feet, and asked that the list of states be read, to name honorary vice presidents. Mr. Ingalls got up, and asked that Rule 3 be read.

Clerk Johnson read this rule, which provided that the reports of the committee on credentials and rules must be acted upon before any nominations were made for president and vice president.

Chairman McKinley gracefully accepted the correction and withdrew his announcement.

On motion of Mr. DeYoung, of California, the convention, at 12:50, adjourned until at 11 o'clock to-day. There were cries of "No" as the motion to adjourn was made, and the vote in its favor was small; but the chairman put it quickly and declared it carried.

COMMITTEE ON CREDENTIALS.

Upon Their Action Depends the Whole Work of the Convention.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 9.—The nomination of a candidate for the presidency of the United States by the Republican convention may turn upon the action of the committee on credentials. There are about sixty votes involved in the contests pending before that committee. In the Louisiana delegation the contest involves twelve of the sixteen delegates, in Alabama fourteen delegates are involved out of a total of twenty-two. In the states of Mississippi and Texas there are also contests, in the former six delegates being involved and in the latter the entire delegation. The political significance of the Texas contest, however, will hardly have any special bearing on the result, as the decision not to recognize the white man's Republican party eliminates them from consideration in this connection. In Maryland there are two delegates, in Kentucky two, in North Carolina five, and in South Carolina the whole delegation of sixteen. In Georgia two delegates are at issue, and in Utah two delegates. In the latter case there is no doubt that the Blaine men will be seated, their claim being conceded by all, and sustained by previous action of the national committee.

The importance of the action to the Blaine side is apparent when viewed in connection with a statement made by one of the prominent workers about headquarters. Said he: "Of course so long as human nature is not perfect, absolute dependence may not be placed in what is said by some members of the race. But if the various specimens with whom we have come in contact in this contest tell the truth I think Harrison is beaten. But it is very close. Tables which were made up from figures that have been scanned with the utmost care and adopted only upon the basis of the conservative calculation, show only about twenty votes in excess of a majority for Mr. Blaine. But we have the utmost confidence in the final result."

"How do the contested votes affect your calculations?"

"There are about sixty votes dependent upon the report of the committee, and action of the convention. Of these I have no doubt that Blaine will secure at least two-thirds, or forty in all."

"What about the third candidate talk?"

"None of the Blaine men are taking any part in that. They are satisfied that their man will win and they stand by him. They have also the assurance that their position meets the approval of the great body of the Republicans throughout the country. Telegrams are coming in from every section urging the delegates to vote for Blaine and to the managers of the canvass, asking them to exert every effort to increase his votes. These telegrams are from almost every imaginable source, and come in at the rate of one every five minutes."

The Minneapolis delegation yesterday refused to give its endorsement to Governor Pillsbury's resolution providing that the presidential term be extended to six years and that no president shall be eligible to succeed himself, thus involving an amendment to the constitution. Governor Pillsbury, who is chairman of the delegation, said he thought it courteous to submit the resolution to the delegation before presenting it in congress. The resolution was antagonized by Messrs. Snyder, Jacobson, Wallon and others, on the ground that it would be considered a slap at the administration and it would be bad politics to take any such action. "It is not directed against the administration," said Chairman Pillsbury, "and can not intelligently be thus construed." The sensation at the meeting, however, was the speech of Stanford Newell, of St. Paul, favoring endorsement of the resolution by the delegation, coupled with a declaration in favor of a dark horse. Yesterday after having been quoted for weeks as a Blaine man, he answered, "Harrison," when the delegation was polled.

Speaking to the delegation yesterday, Mr. Newell said: "The changes proposed are absolutely essential to good government, and the situation at present is sufficiently grave to demand that immediate and decisive action be taken on it. There is a great deal too much sentiment abroad on account of apparent conflict of candidates. I am free to say that had a ballot been taken on Monday, I should have cast my vote for Harrison. If a ballot is taken to-day I shall vote for Blaine. When I say this, do not construe as my meaning that I shall vote for Blaine to the exclusion of any possible dark horses. I am not for Blaine exclusively, but for the best available man. For that reason if we are to have a dark horse, I want one who can represent the Republican party. I want a good man for the place and I know one, as also do you, gentlemen. His name is Thomas B. Reed, of Maine."

Instantly there was pandemonium. The meeting broke up in a tangle, without even a motion to adjourn or any action being taken on the resolution.

MCKINLEY'S POPULARITY.

The Governor of Ohio May Be the Nominee of the Convention.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 9.—It was evident from the manner of reception accorded Governor McKinley at the convention yesterday that he is a prime favorite both with the delegates and the spectators. When he was introduced by Mr. Fassett the cheering lasted thirty-nine seconds, including the time consumed by giving him a round of cheers, proposed by an enthusiastic delegate from Ohio. It was an ovation of which any man might be proud, and should have inspired him to his best. It was a grand occasion, and McKinley rode triumphant over its demands. Barring the omission of any mention of the silver question and of any mention of the administration the speech would serve as an admirable frame, if not the body itself, of the platform.

The onward movement of the McKinley boom received a check yesterday evening in the shape of a report that the Ohio delegation was divided between McKinley and Sherman. M. A. Hanna, of Cleveland, while not a delegate, is here to present the claims of Senator Sherman, one of whose trusted managers he has been for years. There is said to be an element in the delegation who will oppose the governor, or at least will not support him. The difficulty with which the governor has to contend is the same that besets the head of the national administration, that of dissatisfaction and opposition growing out of the bestowal of offices. The complaint is grounded on the appointments made after the confusion of the senatorial contest. The situation in Ohio seems to be similar to that which has marked the history of the state at all national conventions in recent years, and if the time ever comes when a dark horse is to be entered Governor McKinley will be badly handicapped by the division in his own delegation.

After the convention adjourned yesterday, the Ohio headquarters were visited by delegations from Connecticut and California who asked whether or not the state would rally to a movement looking to the nomination of McKinley. But the prospect of securing the desired assistance was not sufficient, in the opinion of the visiting statesmen, to warrant them in proceeding further in the matter at this time.

After the adjournment of the convention yesterday, the Indiana Blaine recruits, both local and visiting, made a raid upon the quarters of the New York delegation and literally took them by storm, packing both the room and corridor outside. Some supporters of the administration who were in the play essayed to enter a vigorous protest, but they were outnumbered fifty to one, and unable to get out, were compelled to listen to half a dozen speeches, eulogistic of the man from Maine and representing the strength of Harrison in his own state. When they had said their fill, they gave three cheers for the Blaine contingent New Yorkers and surrendered possession of the headquarters.

COMMITTEE WORK.

A Platform Ready to Be Reported to the Convention.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 9.—The committee on platform was in session for several hours yesterday and after drawing up a draft of the principal planks, referred them to a committee of seven for revision. The full committee gave a hearing to Susan B. Anthony on the woman's suffrage question. The committee on revision was in session until a late hour last night, when it reported the result of its labors to the general body.

The platform will not be a long one. The record of the national administration will be referred to in approving terms, although unless the document is revised again the name of President Harrison will not be mentioned specifically. The tariff plank makes the usual pronouncements of the party upon that issue, but deals lightly with reciprocity. The silver plank, which was especially in charge of Senator Jones, of Nevada, declares in brief that the Republican party can always be in favor of bi-metalism and believes in dollars of gold and silver, each of which should be of equal purchasing power. The plank on elections reiterates the party demand for an honest ballot and a fair count. On the question of temperance, there is a brief plank advocating all proper means tending to lessen the evil of intemperance and to promote morality.

The sub-committee on miscellany of the committee on resolutions has agreed to report favorably on the resolution asked for by the Nicaragua canal convention last week. Judge M. M. Estee, of San Francisco, and Henry D. Pierce, of Indianapolis, made the arguments before the sub-committee. They were sent here for that purpose by the canal convention. The report will be to the effect that the Nicaragua canal would be of vast importance to the United States in time of war and of incomparable benefit to its productions and commerce, and that it should be built by American capital and controlled by the United States.

A Delegate Injured.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 9.—William Blair, a Blaine delegate from Aurora, Ill., met with an almost fatal accident at the Nicolett House. He was in his room at the hotel when a brass band heading the delegation paraded in front of the hotel. Blair saw the Aurora contingent and became enthusiastic. He thought the balcony was a tin roof, and mounting the window sill leaped out. There was a crash of glass and a flow of blood, and the crowd was stupefied. Blair dangled from the hole in the glass roof.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Warmer, south winds, generally fair, followed Thursday evening by increasing cloudiness and probably local rains; showers are probable Friday.

THE Cincinnati Commercial Gazette remarks that "Oregon touches off the first big gun of the Republican campaign of 1892." Now, when did Oregon get to be "one of the big guns" of the G. O. P.?

THE war has again broken out between the Republican editors of Portsmouth. The Blade refers to Wylie Evans as "an anarchist, coward, liar and fool." Valjean has tried hard on several occasions to get up a real fight with Evans but has never succeeded.

If the Republicans nominate Blaine for President they ought to put McKinley on the tail end of the ticket, and place them on a platform of reciprocity and protection. Blaine for reciprocity and McKinley for high tariff. In this way they could catch the voters "acomin' and agoin'."

SOME of the delegates attending the Republican National convention must be drinking a queer kind of "lemonade." Telegrams tell about one of them mistaking a glass roof on a balcony for tin. He jumped out and landed on the pavement, with the blood spurting from many a cut. It may be the poor fellow has been hypnotized and imagines everything he sees is tin plate.

THE sum of $10,400 was paid out of the State Treasury in 1890 and 1891 for attorney's fees in a few special cases, and now Helm & Bruce, of Louisville, demand a fee of $25,000 in the suit to recover back taxes from the Louisville Water Company. Governor Brown very properly refuses to pay them such an exorbitant fee, and the matter has been referred to arbitrators for settlement. As the arbitrators are themselves attorneys it is not very difficult to predict the final outcome.

EX-TREASURER of the United States J. N. Huston and some other citizens of Connorsville, Ind., lately bought up a lot of land in the suburbs of that city, but they don't intend to sit down and wait for other people to build up around it and enhance its value. On the contrary they propose to make it worth five or six times its present value in a year or so. How? Simply by establishing some factories on it. Arrangements have already been made for one. There is a good pointer in this for several Maysville people.

OVER in New Jersey—which is close enough for the editors to keep posted on the real condition of affairs in New York—the Democratic papers and the Democratic voters are very enthusiastic for Grover Cleveland, and some of them put little faith in the talk that the ex-President couldn't carry the Empire State if he is nominated. Here's something to the point from the Hunterdon Democrat: "The party carried New York in 1876 and 1884, when there were just as many men going about declaring that Tilden or Cleveland couldn't carry that State as there are now. It has been when the party has been thoroughly frightened by this sort of talk that it has won. The Democrats were comparatively united in 1880 and 1888, and failed to win. Cleveland is much stronger in New York than he was in 1884, when we had the same opposition that there is now with the Butler defection in addition."

Let the Truth Be Known.

Says the Catlettsburg Democrat: "We see it stated in some of our exchanges, who have no opinions only such as they get from the Courier-Journal, that Mr. Watterson was elected by acclamation a delegate-at-large to the National convention. The fact is that Mr. Watterson's election was due to the crowd of Louisville bums that had been drummed into the convention hall for the occasion, and whose voices on a yea and nay vote could not be distinguished from those of the regular delegates, and by the ruling of the Chair in refusing a call of the counties when demanded, a ruling never before witnessed in a Democratic State convention in Kentucky."

CAPTAIN WAT SHEED and wife will celebrate their silver wedding June 28, at their home in Hartwell, near Cincinnati.

Got in Bad Company.

The Cincinnati Post says Colonel A. Harrison, a wealthy gentleman, from Poplar Flats, Lewis County, Ky., is regretting that he ever visited Cincinnati. He struck the city the other day with plenty of cash and an earnest desire to have a pic-nic. Monday night he filled himself to the brim with "Jersey lightning" and started out to see the sights. Late in the evening he found himself down on Front street. He was approached by a couple of colored women, who engaged him in conversation. As a result of the talk, the Colonel accompanied the women to a room. His recollection of what occurred there is not very distinct, but when he found himself on the street again he discovered that he was minus $215. As soon as he recovered from the shock he looked for his late companions, but could not find them. Tuesday morning he reported the matter to the police, and they are investigating.

REV. J. S. SIMS, a son-in-law of Mr. R. B. Lovel of this city, delivered an address at Parkersburg on Memorial Day, and the Sentinel says it was the most earnest, profound, eloquent and fraternal sermon ever preached on such an occasion in that city. He treated the subject from the highest plane of pure christianity. The C. S. A. and G. A. R. sat side by side and as they absorbed the preacher's utterances they were made better men. At the conclusion of the services there were greetings of old war opponents sincerely fraternal and honest.

THE friends of Mr. Herbert Wilson, formerly of this city, will regret to learn that he has become mentally unbalanced. He was adjudged of unsound mind at Lexington this week, and is now in the High Oaks Private Sanitarium at that place. He has a peculiar hallucination that some one is trying to kill him. He left home a few months ago and went to New York, from there to Old Point, thence back to White Sulphur and then to Lexington. At Old Point and White Sulphur he imagined some one tried to kill him by putting poison in the water. He appears perfectly rational on all subjects except the one referred to.

Pithy Points From Washington.

The liquor traffic will have to cast about for new material if the drunkard cures keep up their present licks.

The whisky traffic may be depended upon to do its part in the matter of keeping the whisky cures supplied with patients.

There need be no fear there shall be too many whisky sanitariums established, so long as the rum traffic is licensed to make drunkards.

To cure drunkenness is certainly a noble aim and worthy of all commendation, but to prevent drunkard-making is a thousand fold more commendatory.

The whisky men only laugh at a case of drunkenness being cured when the party no longer has anything left with which to buy their villainous decoction.

In all other diseases an ounce of prevention is held to be a pound of cure, but the whisky disease, it seems, is not considered worthy of attention until it has become well set.

It is to be hoped the whisky cures shall not prove such profitable institutions that they will be merely adjuncts to the rum traffic, working in such beautiful unison and harmony that they shall be necessary each to the existence of the other.

Heretofore the liquor traffic has been under contract to fill jails, penitentiaries, almshouses and police courts; now there is a heavy demand made upon it from a new and unexpected source—institutes and sanitariums. Doubtless it will prove equal to the emergency.

This thing of establishing cures for drunkenness, and losing sight of the prime cause of it all, is about as sensible as it would be to pay no attention to a dog with the rabies, but let it go on biting every one that came in its way, and address themselves alone to curing those already bitten.

GROWING OLD.

Some day, looking in my mirror,
I'll discover, here and there,
Slowly on my head intruding,
Scattering threads of silver hair;
But I do not think I'll murmur,
And I do not think I'll scold,
And my heart will not be saddened
When I see I'm growing old.

I will make no lamentation
And no tear will dim my eye.
There will be no touch of sadness,
Nor a vain, regretful sigh;
Youth will be a mere remembrance,
Just a story that is told
But I'll not wish to recall it
When I see I'm growing old.

I shall think that, of Life's battle,
Of the hard, relentless grind,
There is less ahead to conquer,
There is more that's left behind.
Nearer, then, my rest from labor,
On Life's path so bleak and cold.
So the gray hairs will be welcome
When I see I'm growing old.
—Joseph Bert Smiley.

How She Wrote It.

One of the qualities necessary to success in any line of work is the ability to think and act practically upon the everyday questions of life.

A young woman who had charge of the cataloguing of the accounts of a Philadelphia bank employed as an assistant a girl apparently intelligent and well educated, to whom she gave the necessary directions for the work. One of the instructions was that, while she was to write out the full name where an abbreviation was used, she must never abbreviate a name.

One day the young woman in charge found the following peculiar name and address, neatly written out by the assistant, "Sam. Brown, trustee for George and Minnie Section, Academy of Natural Sciences."

Somewhat surprised at the address, she asked to see the ledger from which it was copied. The ledger read, "Sam. Brown, trustee for Geo. and Min. Section, Academy of Natural Sciences."

The young woman had never studied either geology or mineralogy, but when the matter was explained to her she found that the word "Section" is not always a surname, and that "Geo." may be an abbreviation for something quite different from George.—Youth's Companion.

The Flimflam.

A Customer—Give me a dozen shirts.

Shopkeeper—Here you are, sir, the best quality.

Customer—How much?

Shopkeeper—One fifty each.

Customer—All right, wrap them up.

Now, how much are these socks?

Shopkeeper—Fifty cents a pair.

Customer—Well, I'll take three dozen pairs instead of the shirts.

The socks are done up and the customer starts for the door with the bundle.

Shopkeeper—Hold on there, you haven't paid for those socks.

Customer—Certainly not. I took them in exchange for the shirts.

Shopkeeper—Yes, but you didn't pay for the shirts.

Customer—Certainly not, because I didn't take them.

Shopkeeper—That's a fact, and he spends the next half hour trying to make his cash balance.—New York Herald.

PLEASANT EVENING AT HAYSWOOD.

The Primary Department Entertain a Large Audience—Closing Exercises.

The primary department in Hayswood and their principal, Miss Carrie Hays, were in their glory last night. The part taken by the different pupils was well executed, and for more than an hour they kept a large audience alive with interest and amusement. Without particularizing it is sufficient to say that all the little folks acquitted themselves with great credit to themselves and their teacher.

The present school year will be concluded to-night with the rendition of the following programme by the more advanced pupils and by the music class under the direction of their teacher, Miss Maria L. Spears. The public is invited to be present.

CONDITION OF CROPS.

What the State Weather Service Has to Say of the Outlook in Kentucky.

Following is the crop bulletin of the State Weather Service for the past week: The past ten days have shown somewhat improved weather conditions, although they were far from being all that could be desired for farming interests. There was a slight excess in temperature, a deficiency in sunshine and, except in extreme northeastern counties, a large excess of precipitation. In other parts of the State, the rainfall was quite evenly distributed, though in Logan, Simpson, Hart and Warren counties the excess is slightly more marked than elsewhere.

Tobacco setting is making good progress, and the conditions have been generally favorable to the work. The outlook for corn, particularly in central and eastern portions of the State, is not promising. Much of the crop yet remains unplanted, and there is no present prospect that the bottom lands will be in condition to work soon enough to allow the corn to mature if planted. Early corn looks very well.

The growth of wheat is too rank, and there is much complaint of its falling down owing to heavy rains and high winds. In some sections rust has made its appearance. Despite these drawbacks, there is excellent reason to think that the average of the crop will be very good.

Grasses of all kinds and garden crops are reported to be in generally excellent condition.

OUT OF THE RUINS

Springs Hope Once More in the Stricken Regions.

RECOVERING FROM THE WRECK.

Oil City and Titusville Lay Away the Dead So Far Recovered—Additions to the Death Roll Looked For—The Work of Relief Being Rapidly Pushed by Hard Working Committees—Efforts Being Made to Prevent the Spreading of Disease.

OIL CITY, Pa., June 9.—After four days of excitement, violent grief and well-performed duties to the dead and living this place has resumed business, recovered its lost nerve, and is ready to look the future in the face, with hope and faith. Activity is returning, and the nervous dread and natural fear have gone.

Yesterday seven unknown and unclaimed dead were buried in the relief lot in Grove Hill cemetery. This is a beautiful triangular lot seventy-six feet wide near the entrance, and has been set apart for this purpose, and in it a handsome monument will be placed. Already there are ten "unknown dead" buried there.

All the dead recovered have been buried, but the sad ceremonies are not yet over, as there are several in the hospital who are not expected to live. These are: Charles Coburn, Mr. Patrick Feeney and two children, Mary Tesmer, Annie Brunse, Edward Hanna and Mrs. Sophia Briggs.

Up to the present the relief fund of Oil City amounts to $31,769 and for Titusville $31,935. In these are included the $25,000 given by the Standard Oil company, to be equally divided between the two cities.

The work of removing the ruins is being actively prosecuted by a force of 500 men. No efforts have as yet been made to clear away the ruins along the west side and the fires are still burning among the rubbish.

The relief committee has already given aid to almost 700 persons and it is believed that the number will reach 800. Many of these will have to be taken care of for months.

At Titusville.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., June 9.—The work of searching for bodies is still progressing, the search now being directed to the east end of town, where it is supposed many have been carried and lodged under the piles of rubbish which have lodged down the creek.

Disinfectants are being profusely scattered to prevent the spread of disease. Much sickness prevails among the people who were in the water during the excitement and who are now prostrated since the reaction set in.

ANOTHER BATTLE IN VENEZUELA.

The Government Forces Defeated After a Three Days Engagement.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The Herald prints a special from Valencia which says that the government forces and the revolutionist have had a terrific battle, lasting three days, and the revolutionists have again been victorious. The scene of the fight was a few miles from Valencia.

The engagement began early on June 1. At one time the government army seemed on the point of winning, but finally the greater enthusiasm of the revolutionists began to tell. On the third day the rebels swooped down upon the government troops yelling like mad men, and heaving down their opponents with their knives. It was impossible to stay their terrible charge and the government soldiers fled in all directions. The retreat continued until this city was reached.

The rout of the government troops was complete and the result has disheartened Palacios's adherents and greatly strengthened General Crespo's cause. Another battle is expected to take place between Valencia and Puerto Cabello.

At no time since the rebellion commenced have the revolutionists been so powerful.

The Report Denied.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The Venezuelan count here denies the report of the defeat of the government troops in his country. According to the consuls latest information the only fighting being done is in the western part, where the revolutionists are gathering their forces and though lacking arm, are considerable in number.

HOUSE AND SENATE.

Proceedings of Both Branches of Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The house devoted the session for a short time to the consideration of the bill to forfeit lands granted to any state or corporation, to aid in the construction of railroads opposite to the portion of any railroad not constructed within the time specified in the act making the grant, but this measure was temporarily laid aside, and the agricultural appropriation bill was taken up and passed without substantial amendment. The house then adjourned.

The session of the senate was of short duration. The attendance on both sides was small. After the reporting of the anti-option bill, which was laid on the table pending reference, Mr. Dolph, Republican, of Oregon, had a bill passed providing for the irrigation and reclamation of arid lands, and for the protection of forests and utilization of pasturage. The senate at 1:50 p. m. adjourned.

Two Horses Cremated.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 9.—Lightning last night set fire to David Shideler's barn, north of Muncie, and it was totally destroyed. Two horses were cremated.

Base Ball.

At Washington—Washington 12, Louisville 1.
At Boston—Boston 9, Chicago 6.
All other scheduled games were prevented by rain.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTIONS.

Several States Select Delegates to the Chicago Convention.

BALTIMORE, June 9.—The Democratic state convention yesterday selected presidential electors and delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention. The delegation chosen for Chicago includes Senator Gorman and Governor Brown. Resolutions instructing the delegation to support Cleveland for president was defeated by a vote of 87 1-2 to 28 1-2, and the delegation goes uninstructed. This, it is said, was the wish of Senator Gorman. The unit rule was adopted.

Division in Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 9.—When the state Democratic convention was called to order yesterday a supporter of Kolb, the Alliance candidate for governor, moved for a conference looking to certain contest in favor of Kolb's candidacy. The measure was tabled, and all of the Kolb delegates left the convention, and organized a separate meeting. The regular convention adjourned until today. The delegates participating in the first convention were for Governor Jones' renomination. The Kolb convention will put out a full state ticket headed by Kolb to oppose Governor Jones. The delegates to Chicago will be for Cleveland.

Maine for Cleveland.

BANGOR, Me., June 9.—The Democratic state convention yesterday nominated Charles F. Johnson for governor, and selected delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention and adopted resolutions, "recommending the renomination of Cleveland for president."

In Mississippi.

JACKSON, Miss., June 9.—The Democratic state convention met here yesterday. No instructions were given to the delegates to Chicago, but they will probably be for Cleveland as first choice.

PROPHECY FULFILLED.

The Oil Region Disaster Foretold by a Colored Preacher.

ANDERSON, Ind., June 9.—The recent disastrous fire and flood that swept over the oil region of Pennsylvania recalls vividly the prediction made by William Stoner, a colored preacher of this town, who one month ago went into a trance on the street corner in this city and foretold with great vigor the destruction of the cities in the oil regions of Pennsylvania by fire and water.

Everybody thought Stoner was crazy, but the power and earnestness with which he talked about the affair impressed everybody who heard. The poor fellow was locked up for insanity and is still in jail. Nothing more was thought of the matter until the terrible disaster befell the oil regions Monday night, then the prophetic words of the old dorker were recalled. There are some people in town who are now wondering whether Stoner is crazy or gifted with prophetic instinct. One thing certain his prophecy has been fulfilled with remarkable accuracy.

RUSSIAN RELIEF.

Special Report of the St. Petersburg Famine Committee.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 9.—The special famine committee, presided over by the czarowitz, has just issued a report reviewing the condition of affairs in the famine-stricken provinces. The winter, the report says, has been much more favorable to the sufferers than the reports of independent relief bodies would indicate. The report pays a high tribute to the charity of private individuals, and speaks in especial praise of the gifts from America and the work of Pastor Francis, of the American church at St. Petersburg.

The cargoes sent from the United States by the steamers Indiana and Missouri furnished the government of Tambov with over one hundred carloads of flour. The energetic measures adopted by themselves for the relief of the sufferers is also highly praised by the committee.

HEAVY LOSS BY DROUTH.

Live Stock Perishing and Mexicans All but Starving to Death.

LAREDO, Tex., June 9.—The drouth on the lower Rio Grande border continues unbroken. The usually green range is as barren as the burning sands of Sahara, and seed planted in the spring has not sprouted.

In this particular region the losses of live stock will be 99 per cent. Distressing destitution exists among the Mexican population, which comprises three-fourths of the inhabitants of this region, and but for the contributions forwarded from various points in Texas and by the Red Cross society hundreds would have starved to death.

IT'S DROPPING.

The River at St. Louis Will Not Reach a Danger Point Again.

ST. LOUIS, June 9.—The river here will not, it is probable, pass beyond the high mark of May. It is falling rapidly now, and as the up river rise can not reach here for at least six days the stream will probably be within banks by the time the melted snow makes its effect apparent. Traffic in all directions is unimpeded. Roads to the north, east, south and west are handling business promptly.

International Congress of Miners.

LONDON, June 9.—The International Congress of Miners took up the subject of an eight hour working day for miners throughout the world. The Belgian delegates moved and the German delegates seconded the adoption of the eight hour principle, to be enforced, if need be, by a universal strike. Discussion followed, but it was not decided, the English delegates being divided on the subject.

Man Killed by Lightning.

MADISON, Ind., June 9.—Jesse Thomas, who recently married Miss Kibby, of this city, was killed by lightning Tuesday night, at his home in Mississippi.

Mrs. Harrison Improving.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Mrs. Harrison continues to improve. She is better today and will probably be able to sit up for a while from now on.

Destructive Hail Storm in Mississippi.

CANTON, Miss., June 9.—A destructive hail storm visited this section of the country yesterday, causing incalculable damage. The hail stones were as large as teacups and remained on the ground for an hour. The cotton and corn crops are damaged to the extent of 75 per cent, and fruit has been completely destroyed. Nathan John, a farmer, was killed by hail stones while plowing in his fields.

Smothered in a Cell.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Bernard Woffel, the self-confessed firebug whose trial for arson came to an abrupt close in the court of oyer and terminer by reason of his confession yesterday, committed suicide in his cell in the Tombs prison last night by hanging himself to the waste pipe.

Jesse James' Slayer Killed.

CREEDE, Colo., June 9.—Bob Ford, the slayer of Jesse James, was shot and instantly killed by Deputy Sheriff Kelly in a dance hall yesterday afternoon. The killing is thought to be an outgrowth of a quarrel which occurred some time ago.

Barn Burned by Lightning.

COLUMBUS, Ind., June 9.—The barn owned by John Crump was struck by lightning during the storm last night, and together with the contents was destroyed. Loss, $1,000.

Young Girl Missing.

RICHMOND, Ind., June 9.—Dora Adams, a young lady of this city, is mysteriously missing, and friends are much distressed about her, fearing foul play. It is known that she went to Cambridge City, but nothing more can be ascertained. She was employed here, but left so hastily that her clothes and wages remain uncalled for.
